IMPORTANT INFORMATION

- To be eligible to make a Section 51 election:
 - You must hold a valid Western Australian driver's licence (not being a provisional licence) and not be subject to a disqualification from holding or obtaining a driver's licence;
 - The completed election form must be given to the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) within 21 days after you were personally served with the Excessive Demerit Points Notice; and
 - You must not otherwise be prevented from making an election.
- An election can only be made by the person named in the Excessive Demerit Points Notice.
- A Good Behaviour Period election can be made:
 - In person at a DVS centre, regional Department of Transport and Major Infrastructure office or agent; or
 - By completing and signing the election form then scanning the form or capturing an image by smart phone or tablet and submitting by email to GBPElection@transport.wa.gov.au
- Section 51 does not give the CEO any discretion in regard to the 21 day time period in which an election can be made. A late election will NOT be accepted and your disqualification period will commence 28 days after the date of service of the Excessive Demerit Points Notice unless postponed due to an existing disqualification or one enforced during the 28 day period.
- The Good Behaviour Period commences 28 days after the service of the Excessive Demerit Points Notice unless postponed due to a disqualification enforced during the 28 day period.

Note: A disqualification includes a licence suspension order enforced by the Fines Enforcement Registry or a disqualification order imposed by a Court.

NOTE: Written notification is issued if your election application is received and approved. Contact DVS on (08) 9320 4500 within 28 days after the date of service of the Notice to verify approval or decline of your election if written notification is not received.
